In the question that follows 'assisted dying' is taken to mean when a terminally ill adult of sound mind can legally seek assistance to end their life via life-ending medication, following the approval of two doctors.

This is currently illegal across Britain.

To what extent, if at all, would you support or oppose the launching of a parliamentary inquiry into assisted dying in England and Wales, examining the impact of the current law, potential changes to legislation and what impact these changes might have?
