Which of the following statements come closer to your view?

Charity begins at home. The UK is experiencing the most severe spending cuts in a generation, with almost every public service being cut back. We can't afford to spend money on international aid at such a time and should focus on our problems at home, especially as much of the international aid budget is wasted.	56	57	53	37	60	53	48	56	57	51	56	56	58	49	65	53	54	57	62	48
Britain's problems don't compare to the levels of poverty in the developing world. Raising the international aid budget is a moral responsibility, which Britain signed up to in international agreements. It represents such a small amount of money (0.7% of GNI) compared to other areas of government spending, and the poorest people in the world shouldn't have to suffer more because of the international economic slowdown.	26	26	31	46	22	30	36	29	24	28	25	28	25	33	18	29	29	23	21	35
