There are 650 seats in the House of Commons, and a government needs 326 seats for a majority. 18 of the seats elect Northern Irish parties and 1 seat is held by the Speaker. If you imagine your ideal House of Commons, how many of the remaining seats would each party have? Please enter the number of seats that each party would have in your ideal House of Commons below; remember, the total must add to 631. You may allocate a maximum of 59 seats to the Scottish National Party and 40 seats to Plaid Cymru because these are the numbers of seats in Scotland and Wales respectively.
