Currently it is illegal for a doctor to help someone with a terminal illness to end their life, even if the person considers their suffering unbearable and they are of sound mind. There will be a Bill in Parliament this year that, if passed, would allow terminally ill adults the option of assisted dying. This would mean being provided with life-ending medication to take themselves if two doctors thought they met all of the safeguards. They would need to be of sound mind, be terminally ill and have 6 months or less to live, and have made a clear and settled decision with time to consider all other options.

Whether or not you would want the choice for yourself, do you think this Bill should or should not become law?
