There is currently a Bill being considered by Parliament titled the Assisted Dying for the Terminally Ill Bill. If this Bill became law, terminally ill adults (this means someone with a few months or less to live e.g. Cancer or Motor Neurone Disease), who were suffering unbearably, would be allowed to ask for and receive medication from their doctor to end their life at a time of their choosing, providing they meet a range of safeguards. If they were physically unable to self administer the medication, their doctor would be allowed to assist them.

If an election candidate supported this proposal would you be…?
