

YouGov Poll: NBC LX - January 12

Sample 1,200 Registered Voters
 Margin of Error ±3.7%

1. The House of Representatives intends to impeach President Donald Trump this week, an action that the Senate will also need to vote on. Congressional leaders have said the impeachment proceedings will not proceed quickly enough to remove the president from office by January 20, when Joe Biden is set to be inaugurated, although if successfully impeached Trump would be prevented from holding elected office again. Given those circumstances, do you think it is or is not worth Congress attempting to impeach Donald Trump?

	Party identification (with leaners)
	Total	Democrats	Republicans	Independent
1) I would like to see Donald Trump impeached, and it is worth Congress attempting to do so	53%	91%	9%	48%
2) I would like to see Donald Trump impeached, but it is not worth Congress attempting to do so	7%	6%	5%	12%
3) I would not like to see Donald Trump impeached	37%	2%	83%	30%
4) Don't know	4%	1%	3%	10%
Totals	101%	100%	100%	100%
Unweighted N	1,200	597	329	217

This YouGov Direct Poll was conducted from January 12, 2021 between 11:30 a.m. EST to 11:53 a.m. EST. Data were weighted according to age, gender, education level, political affiliation and ethnicity to be nationally representative of adults in the United States.